

IHE in Action

- Leicestershire CC is submitting its final report to the IHE Highway Inspector steering group in April. The report will set out common standards for inspector training courses and for individual certification. The expectation is that the Institute will badge course providers and offer a register to certificated inspectors. The project aims to create a clear progressive route to EngTech for supervisors and in time to make available courses in highway maintenance for those who are able to move across. Watch this space!
- John Nightingale of JCT Consultancy has been elected as an incoming Vice President. He is the first CEng to be elected an officer of IHE.
- The IHE Annual Dinner on Friday 18 June at the Winchester Hotel promises to be a very special occasion. Steve Spender, the incoming President, is lining up several companies to attend and the Southern Branch seminar speakers will be there. Tickets at £30.00 including wine. Double rooms are available at £89.00 at this 4 star hotel. Contact deputy@theihe.org
- Recent in house Professional Renew courses included one for aspiring EngTechs at Capita in Cumbria.
